

In today's competitive marketplace, performance equals results.

No company is more dedicated to delivering the results you need than Katun.

As the world's largest independent supplier of OEM-compatible imaging supplies, photoreceptors and parts for copiers, printers, fax machines and other office equipment, we pride ourselves on delivering uncompromising quality, value, and above all, performance.

Since 1979, Katun has focused on developing performance-proven solutions for our customers. Our decades of experience mean you can rely on every Katun-brand product we develop and market to meet stringent quality and performance standards.

It's not just our products that perform for you.

Standing behind every one of our products is the performance of our people. Over 1,000 dedicated associates are located around the globe to deliver on the Katun promise: consistently deliver uncompromising quality and value. Each year, we serve 19,000 business partners in over 170 countries.

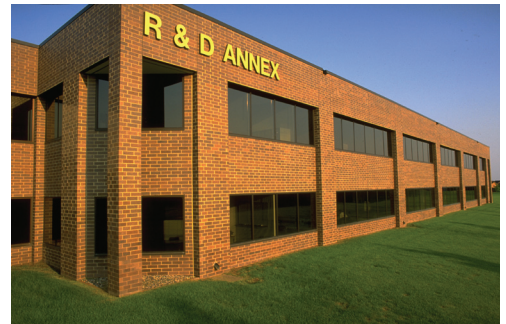

KATUN®

Committed to meeting customer needs with the broadest, most current product selection.

The wide selection of products Katun offers for virtually all OEM lines – copier, printer, fax, digital duplicator and more – is unparalleled in the industry. We are continually expanding our product offering to meet market and business needs, so you'll find everything you need right here at Katun.

Industry leading product development and testing provides the results you demand.

Our state-of-the-art, 90,000-square-foot Research & Development Annex at Katun World Headquarters enables us to enact a rigorous development process that includes: detailed product analysis, engineering, specification development and laboratory testing. This ensures that Katun-developed products deliver the performance, reliability and compatibility with OEM products that our customers demand.

Katun's Performance Guarantee: the best value in the industry.

You can always count on Katun quality. Our in-depth product development and testing verify that our products' performance is equivalent to comparable OEM products, providing the same copy/print quality, yield and life. We pride ourselves on offering these products at a fair price – making them your best overall value.

Earning business through performance-proven results.

Our dedication to producing cost-effective, reliable products has made us the world leader for alternative office equipment parts and supplies. And we've been recognized by VARBusiness magazine as one of the top solution providers in the technology industry.
